The girl knelt in the confessional and said, "Bless me, Father, for I have sinned."

"What is it, child?"

"Father, I have committed the sin of vanity. Twice a day I gaze at myself in the mirror and tell myself how beautiful I am."

The priest turned, took a good look at the girl, and said, "My dear, I have good news. That isn't a sin - it's only a mistake."

I was hospitalized for a few days, and my wife reported that my dog really missed me. "She spends the night at the front door, awaiting your return," she said.

"What an example of true love," I replied. "I wonder if you'd be that concerned about me?"

"Honey," my wife answered, "if you were gone overnight, and I didn't know where you were, you can be sure I'd be waiting for you at the front door."

My wife and I went to a "Dude Ranch" while in Texas. The cowboy preparing the horses asked if she wanted a Western or English saddle, and she asked what the difference was.

He told her one had a horn and one didn't. She replied, "The one without the horn is fine. I don't expect we'll run into too much traffic."

A man was walking home alone one night when he heard a "BUMP....BUMPBUMP..." behind him. Walking faster, he looked back, making out an image of an upright coffin banging its way down the middle of the street towards him "BUMP...BUMP...BUMP..."

The man began to run toward his home, and the coffin bounced after him faster....faster...BUMP ..BUMP ..BUMP!

He ran up to his door, fumbled with his keys, opened the door, rushed in, and locked it behind him. The coffin crashed through his door, with the lid of the coffin clapping BUMP... BUMP ...BUMP... on the heels of the terrified man. The man, while screaming, reached for something, anything....all he can find was a box of cough drops which he hurled at the coffin. Suddenly "the coffin stops!"

A teacher was giving a lesson on blood circulation. Trying to make the matter clear, she said, "Now, class, if I stood on my head, the blood, as you know, would run into it, and I would turn red in the face." "Yes," the class said.

"Then why is it that, while I am standing upright in the ordinary position, the blood doesn't run into my feet?" A little fellow shouted, "Cause your feet ain't empty."

Two men went bear hunting. While one stayed in the cabin, the other went out looking for a bear. He soon found a huge bear, shot at it but only wounded it.

When the enraged bear charged toward him, he dropped his rifle and started running for the cabin as fast as he could. He ran pretty fast but the bear was just a little faster and gained on him with every step. Just as he reached the open cabin door, he tripped and fell flat.

Too close behind to stop, the bear tripped over him and went rolling into the cabin. The man jumped up, closed the cabin door and yelled to his friend inside, "You skin this one while I go and get another!"

Two friends ride to work together. The driver says to the passenger, "We're late, so you watch out the back window for cops."

As they speeds down the road the driver asks, "So, do you see any cops?"

"Yes."

"Are they behind us?"

"Yes."

"Are they close?" asks the driver.

Again he replies "Yes."

The worried driver asks, "Are they going to stop us?"

The passenger's only response is a confused "I don't know."

The driver says, "Well, are their lights on?"

The passenger replies, "Yes. No. Yes. No. Yes. No. Yes. No. Yes."

Vickie asked a cowpoke at a ranch once about the rope hanging in the barn.

Taking pity on her, the rancher said, "This," he said as he showed her the rope "is a lariat. We use it to catch cows."

"I see," said Vickie, trying to seem knowledgeable as she examined the lariat. "And what do you use for bait?"

"If you'll make the toast and pour the juice, sweetheart," said Mary, the newlywed bride, "breakfast will be ready."

"I love the fact that you take really good care of me," said Dave with a smile and added, "By the way, what are we having for breakfast?" Mary replied, "I told you...toast and juice!"

You see, we're celebrating the fifth anniversary of my wife's thirty-fourth birthday!"

When Sally found out she was pregnant, she told the good news to anyone who would listen. But her 4-year-old overheard some of her parents' private conversations. One day when Diane and her 4-year-old were shopping a woman asked the little girl if she was excited about the new baby.

"Oh, yes!" the 4-year-old said, "and I know what we are going to name it. If it's a girl we're going to call her Christina, and if it's a boy we're going to call it quits!"

A pastor was preaching an impassioned sermon on the evils of television. "It steals away precious time that could be better spent on other things," he said. He advised the congregation to do what he and his family had done: "We put our TV away in the closet." "That's right," his wife mumbled, "and it gets awfully crowded in there."

Don't worry about missing your wife's birthday. You'll catch it later.

My mother's menu consisted of two choices: "Take it or leave it."

One day my husband decided to wash his sweatshirt. Seconds after he stepped into the laundry room, he shouted to me, "What setting do I use on the washing machine?" "It depends," I replied. "What does it say on your shirt?" He yelled back, "Saskatchewan Rough Riders."

My dad was with me once when I was a teenager and I had to have an operation. Dad was watching every move the doctor made. At one point he asked, "What's that?" The doctor explained, "This is an anesthetic. After he gets this he won't know a thing." "Save your time, Doc," Pop explained, "He don't know anything now."

Smith goes to see his supervisor in the front office. "Boss," he says, "we're doing some heavy house-cleaning at home tomorrow, and my wife needs me to help with the attic and the garage, moving and hauling stuff." "We're short-handed, Smith," the boss replies. "I can't give you the day off." "Thanks, boss," says Smith, "I knew I could count on you!"
